

How to give a new user rights to your Google Analytics reports

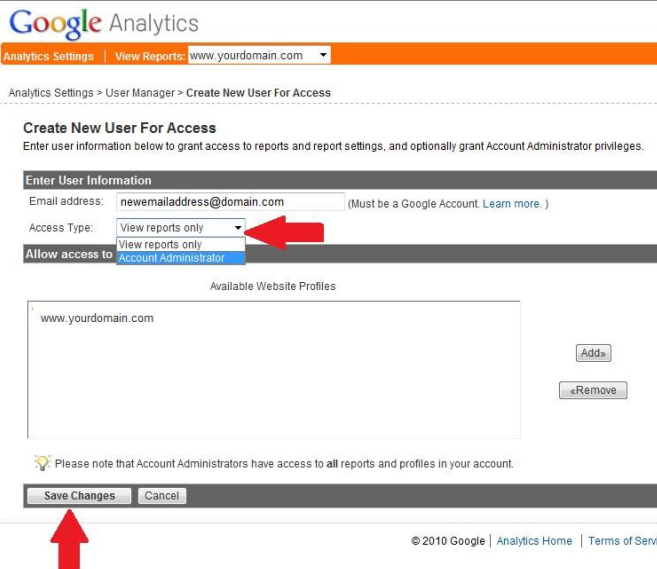

1. Login to your Google Analytics account.
2. From the Overview window, select the "User Manager" feature.

3. Select the "Add User" option from the User Manager window.

4. Add the email address for the new user, select "Account Administrator" in the access type drop down menu followed by "Save Changes".

5. You will then be taken back to the User Manager window where you should see the new email address added.

